Preface

TO MY MANY FLOWER-MINDED FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS.—The 1952 year has just closed and it is time to get out another catalogue. This year I am in a much better frame of mind than I was last time I prepared a catalogue. I am at a loss to understand it, but the past season was a good one for mums despite the fact that we had an almost completely “dry” summer. How the mums managed to bloom with only an occasional “light” shower throughout the entire summer and fall I probably will never know. However, they did just that, so I guess I should not try to find out why—just accept the good fortune and let it go at that.

BLOOMING DATES

Blooming dates are very much desired by most people who grow mums outside (as most of my customer-friends do), and I have included them. However, they are approximations only and I have leaned over backwards in trying not to convey the wrong impression as to blooming dates. If there is any error it will be that the variety blooms earlier (not later) than the date I have given. In figuring blooming dates for your locality, remember the blooming date advances as one goes north and recedes as one goes south. For instance a variety in full bloom here will not reach a similar stage in New Orleans until a week later. This should enable you to adjust the dates to your locality.

DELIVERY DATES AND TYPE OF PLANTS

Delivery will be made this spring—from the last of March on and will consist of small “plants”—not the ordinary “rooted cutting” that requires potting up and growing on some time before they can be set in their permanent location. The plants I will ship you may be either a root division taken off and grown in a cold frame until it has reached the “plant” stage, or a rooted cutting that has been grown in a cold frame until it also has reached the “plant” stage. In either case the plants may be set in their permanent location promptly on arrival. They will be shipped bare root, wrapped in damp moss and then carefully packed in excelsior. When the weather warms up holes will be cut in the package to provide good ventilation. In the far western tier of states shipment by air is strongly recommended, and if you desire this please be sure to include sufficient postage to cover air shipment. Air shipment is not nearly as expensive as would appear at first glance, as plants so shipped are shipped in cellophane bags without any packing material whatever. Since they stay cool while en route they can be shipped across the US and arrive at destination just as fresh as when they started their journey—yet not a particle of packing material is around the roots. In fact last year I shipped a package of mums so packed to Namur, Belgium, and they arrived in good condition.

RAIN-PROOF PLANT LABELS

While I am so very careful to label each plant that I ship correctly and recommend to all my customer-friends that they permanently mark each variety, I receive each fall a number of letters from customers who wish me to identify a certain bloom that they particularly like—stating usually that they just left the paper label on the plant and naturally it was not there when the plant bloomed. Since so many customers don't permanently label their mums, this year I have decided to use a different kind of label—a paper label all right, but one that is very resistant to water and one that will enable the name to be read with ease in the fall. These labels will not “go to pieces” as will the ordinary paper label, and while I still say you should permanently mark your mums, if you won't (or don't) then you will still be able to read the variety name in the fall—and incidentally I won't get nearly so many letters asking me to identify a certain bloom.

CORRECT LABELING OF PLANTS

I realize that there seems to be a kind of "racket" in the mum business, and that quite often when you order a very definite variety, and give the plants unusually good attention during the growing season, you may be rewarded in the fall by very inferior blooms—undoubtedly not the variety you ordered although the plant bore the correct name on the label. Unfortunately nature seems to have unintentionally aided in this "racket," as with few exceptions it is impossible to tell one variety from another in the young plant or cutting stage. Fully realizing this I have resolved to make my little mum business unique in that you will get what you order, or if you permit substitutions to correctly label the plant or plants I ship. Most of my business now is repeat orders—so that policy must be appreciated by discriminating flower-friends.

To carry out this policy it is necessary that I personally gather, label, pack and ship each order myself (which necessarily limits it to a small volume), and in return I would appreciate a postcard stating the condition of the plants on arrival, as well as any suggestions you may have towards improving my packing methods. (I have received some good suggestions from customers.)

However, being human, an occasional error will occur, and in such cases I would prefer to know about it—rather than be judged guilty of deliberate mis-labeling.

PACKING AND TRANSPORTATION COSTS

Now this careful packing takes TIME, MATERIAL and STAMPS for parcel post, as all small orders will go forward by prepaid parcel post (large orders at special prices will go by express, COLLECT). To cover this expense I am asking each customer to add 50c to the total of the order when the same is $5.00 or less to cover transportation and packing costs. In cases where the order runs from $5.00 to $10.00 please add 75c to the order, and $1.00 when the order amounts to more than $10.00. I practically always include a few plants gratis with each order, so you will be well repaid for this small additional charge.

QUANTITY PRICES

If interested in quantity, most standard and not-too-scarce varieties can be furnished in lots of 25 or multiples thereof of one variety at around 15 cents each, but please write me first the varieties you want and how many of each variety, before you order in quantity as some varieties are slow propagators and I could not supply them in quantity at any price. Similarly, dozen lots can usually be shipped at $2.00 per dozen but again I must know in advance what varieties you wish. Also, please remember that the above quantity prices apply only when you order the 25 or 12 plants of one variety—when ordered a plant or so of many different varieties the "each" price prevails no matter how many plants are included in the order.

ENGLISH VARIETIES

Now about the English chrysanthemums we have been hearing so much about the past year or two. It seems they came over from England to western Canada a few years ago, and from there spread over the United States. Even as late as 1941 few varieties were outside the State of Washington. Since then they have moved fast and with ever increasing popularity in the central and northern states. This popularity is largely due to the fact that most of the English varieties bloom well in advance of the really "big" mums seen in the florists' windows each fall. Consequently, in localities where the real large mums cannot be grown outside (without considerable protection) the English strain will often mature blooms, and while these blooms are not quite as large as the "exhibition" or "football" types they do afford fairly large blooms in localities where the truly "big" mums can not be grown outside. That I think is the principal reason for their popularity, as in the far south (where exhibition varieties can be grown outside) the English varieties are not nearly so popular. I know because I ship mum plants all over the United States, and I do not ship nearly as many to the extreme southern tier of states as farther north. However, since they do fill a distinct need in certain sections where earliness is important, I imagine I will add a few from time to time and likewise drop a few. For reasons stated I am not overly fond of them and will never let them replace the old tried and true varieties—such as the Turners, Fricks, etc. Another reason against them—for some reason I have never been able to figure out there is a swarm of new varieties introduced each year now by different growers, and with a complete disregard of logic they have been given the same names as our old standard varieties. For instance there is an English Quaker Maid (red) which I won't list as everyone knows the real Quaker Maid is an early white standard. Similarly, there are scores of duplication of names, and I won't clutter my catalogue up with duplicate names—it is hard enough now to keep varieties separate. I wrote and asked one grower about the duplication of names and he said he guessed the English just didn't know any better, but those were the names he bought them under in England. Anyway, you know how I feel about the duplication of names.

Anyway, the past season I grew a few more English and must admit that they surprised me—pleasantly so too. While none came up to the Exhibitions, a number were unusually nice—particularly in color combinations, and I grudgingly conceded they were on a par with the ordinary standard varieties. Consequently I am growing a few more English varieties this year, and if they continue to turn in as good a performance as they did last year I will probably add materially to my English varieties.

WARRANTY

During my over 15 years experience in dealing with the public I have found only rare instances of dishonesty—practically all people who grow flowers are scrupulously honest, but in order to protect myself in these rare instances I wish it distinctly understood that I give no warranty expressed or implied, as to description, quality or productiveness of any plants I send out.

With the above explanation and under the conditions stated, I am offering limited quantities of the mum varieties listed within.

F. A. SPIVEY

P. O. Box 574, Montgomery, Alabama

P.S.—As a personal favor to me, after you have signed your name, PLEASE print your name immediately underneath the written signature. I have lost far too much religion trying to figure out people's names, and I am sure you will agree that no one has any religion to lose.

P.P.S.—I have received a world of comment on the above postscript, but I still stick to my guns that nothing makes me lose my religion quicker than trying to figure out a half-legible signature. I guess I will never know why a person will very carefully print out the variety C H R Y S A - L O R A (and often describe the bloom too), and then when the order is finished sign it with a signature that looks just about like a hen's scratching. It apparently never occurs to them that all I need to identify the variety CHRYSALORA is the first few letters, whereas I will need to know every letter of their name or the package may not reach them. Such is human nature and I don't suppose it can be changed, so just for my sake PLEASE CONTINUE TO PRINT YOUR NAME.

POMPONS, BUTTONS, DECORATIVES,

Note. This caption embraces quite a wide range in sizes of bloom as well as colors and types of bloom—in fact many of the newer hardies produce blooms comparable with the medium-sized standards. When well grown and properly disbudded four and five inch blooms are easily obtained with many of the late hardy introductions.

While the chrysanthemum is my true love, I am not prejudiced against other flowers, and when I see something that I particularly like I add it to my collection. Occasionally I get more of some item than I have space for (my space is limited), and so am willing to pass the surplus along to my many flower-minded friends and customers.

Last year I had only one item. This year I have the two listed below:

LYCORIS, Radiata: (formerly classified as NERINE, Sarniensis, or Guernsey Lily). This lily is truly regal, blooming as it does in the fall when the garden is usually bare of color. The bloom spike emerges from the soil before any foliage appears. The spike is from 10 to 16 inches tall and the typical lily-like blooms are watermelon red and particularly attractive. The strap-like, typical bulb foliage follows the bloom, and lasts throughout the winter. Hot weather causes the foliage to die down, and the bulbs stay dormant until the following September. One point to remember—the bulbs must be planted very shallow or you will get no blooms; barely cover the bulb with soil—that is enough. $1.50 per dozen bulbs delivered, or $6.00 per hundred by express collect. Shipment in May or early June so bulbs can bloom the following September. I have slightly over a thousand of these bulbs, and any one wishing to naturalize an area could not do better than to choose this lily. It does unusually well in wooded areas, as it grows to perfection under any deciduous tree—have seen them blooming within 3 ft. of a large oak tree. Will ship 500 bulbs by express collect for $25.00 or 1000 bulbs for $50.00.

IRIS SPURIA.—I have grown for several years the Ochroleuca Gigantea variety of this Iris, and it has done unusually well for me. It has typical iris foliage and each spring provides a wealth of cutting stems 3 ft. long, topped with the three-pronged iris bloom. The standards are white while the falls are yellow with a quarter-inch margin of white. All-in-all it is a very striking addition to the garden. The foliage dies down during the hot weather, starts to grow again in the fall, grows throughout the winter and blooms here in early spring—often just right for Easter. For some unknown reason no insect seems to bother either the bloom, foliage or root stock—so you see it is just about fool-proof. Will ship strong 2-eye root divisions during the summer at 50 cents each, but if you order please order several as they can not be shipped with the chrysanthemums, and separate shipments are expensive—even when made by parcel post.

SHELLED PECAN MEATS

I have a number of large pecan trees—over 20 years old, and each fall I have a quantity of the nuts shelled for our own use and to give as presents to my friends and relatives. These meats are such a treat that I thought some of my customer-friends might also like to try the Southern Pecan, so this fall I will as usual have quite a lot shelled and any one wishing to try a package can include the order with their chrysanthemum order. I will ship only unbroken halves and will pack them in either 2½ pound boxes or in 5 pound boxes. The price of the small box will be $3.00 and the larger box $6.00. Either size box will be delivered by prepaid and insured parcel post. If you wish them sent as Christmas presents be sure to include with your order the card you wish sent along with the package, and you may rest assured that they will be delivered to either you or your friend at the time you designate—I will personally attend to this so it will not be forgotten. I believe if you once try a box of real “high-class” Southern pecan meats (halves) you will come back each year for more.
